Let's Start!

Do you think you could introduce me sometime?

Learning Outcome

Identify and describe plans for the organization of events.

Ask your partner:

- Do you like to meet your friends' families? Why or why not?
- Do you get nervous when you meet new people? Why?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about how frequently I do something.
- I can talk about daily routines.
- I can make and respond to requests.

Let's Explore!

Vanessa tells Marco about her daily routine. What does Marco request?

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Marco: What do you do every day, Vanessa? I know you work a lot, but what about the rest of the day?
- Vanessa: Well, I spend a lot of my time thinking about you ...
- Marco: That's good.
- Vanessa: I usually help my Aunt Nelly with the grocery shopping and housework. I like to help out as much as I can.
- Marco: Do you think you could introduce me to Aunt Nelly sometime? I would love to meet her.
- Vanessa: Sure. We usually have family dinner on Thursday nights. Do you want to come this week?
- Marco: Great! I sometimes get nervous when I meet my girlfriend's family. It depends on how much I like her.
- Vanessa: How nervous are you to meet my family?
- Marco: Very!
- Vanessa: Is there any chance you could wear that blue polo shirt of yours? You look so handsome in it!
- Marco: No problem ... I'll wash it tonight!

Let's Practice!

Learning Points

Making Requests

You use a variety of phrases to make requests.

You can use modals to make requests.

For example:

Could you ... ?

Can you ... ?

Would you mind if ... ?

You can also use other phrases with these modals to make requests.

For example:

Do you think you could ... ?

Is there any chance you can ... ?

Examples:

- Do you think you could introduce me to Aunt Nelly sometime?
- Is there any chance you could wear that blue shirt?
