Let's Start!

Write back soon, please!

Learning Outcome

Describe characteristics of different people and their jobs.

Ask your partner:

- How often do you e-mail or text your friends?
- What do you write about?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about people's personality.
- I can talk or report about actions, events or people.
- I can say what I was doing when something else happened.

Let's Explore!

Sally e-mails Vanessa. Why is she worried?

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Sally:

Hi, V. The last time I heard from you, you and Marco were questioned by the cops! Where are you? Is everything OK? While I was walking down the street, I saw some police. It reminded me of you and your story. I have to know what's going on! Write back soon, please!

Vanessa:

Hey, Sal! You're so sweet to worry about me! Everything is fine with me and Marco. We made up. He's a little unpredictable, but I kind of like that about him. He also realizes how ridiculous he was when we were out for dinner. He apologized and promised me he won't behave like that again. Everyone has character flaws. Maybe mine is that I'm too forgiving. What do you think? How is your trip going, by the way? Where are you now?

Let's Practice!

Let's read parts of Vanessa and Sally's e-mails.

Instructions: Select the incorrect words in the paragraph.

1. Sally: The last time I was heard from you, you and Marco was were questioned by the cops! I saw some police on the street. It is reminded me of you and your story. Where are you? Is everything OK? I have to know what's going on!
2. Vanessa: Marco and I made it up. He apologized and promised to me he won't behave like that again. What do you think?

Learning Points

The Past Continuous Tense

You use the Past Continuous tense to talk about something that was happening at a particular time in the past.

You often use the Simple Past together with the Past Continuous tense.

It is important to remember how to use the comma (,) between these two clauses.

You use a comma after the while or when clause when it is at the beginning of the sentence.

Examples:

- While he was apologizing, he held my hand and looked into my eyes.
- When I saw your e-mail, I was walking around the park.
